

RABBLING OF THE JAPANESE

CANDID WORLD FURNISHED WITH A JAPANESE VERSION.

San Francisco Japanese Newspaper Sends Its Reporters to Describe the Attacks Upon Two Eating Houses and a Bath House—Prompt Complaint to Japan.

A full report of the disturbances caused by the San Francisco mob to the Japanese restaurant and bathhouse on Monday, May 20, is printed in Japanese in the Japanese American, daily, of San Francisco, of the issue of May 22, which just reached New York yesterday.

Now, to begin at the beginning of the story, the trouble began at 7:30 P. M., Monday, May 20. Two or three men who looked like laborers suddenly halted their march in front of the Lion Restaurant, 129 Eighth street, kept by a Japanese by the name of Inota Kawai, and beckoned to several white men who were having their dinner in the restaurant.

They were seen whispering together for five minutes. Then appeared on the scene about thirty laborers, who gathered in front of the entrance of the restaurant. They prevented every white man from entering the restaurant. They even resorted to violence to enforce their plan of boycotting the restaurant.

Then a man sang. He was in appearance well fed and almost aggressively cheerful. His songs, however, were of so pathetic a nature and were rendered with so much of what a woman in a "Mrs. Malaprop" would term "lyric insight" that several of the more sympathetic of his listeners wept openly.

His second song was about "fading roses" and his third about "inadmissible strains had died away there were rapturous comments as to the most exquisite phrasing I ever heard, my dear."

On May 21, when the reporter of the Japanese American went there the windows were patched with wooden boards. But the mob spirit which had been kindled in the inside of the house, they could not get home all evening until 10 P. M., when they stole out of the house from the back door.

On May 21, when the reporter of the Japanese American went there the windows were patched with wooden boards. But the mob spirit which had been kindled in the inside of the house, they could not get home all evening until 10 P. M., when they stole out of the house from the back door.

On May 21, when the reporter of the Japanese American went there the windows were patched with wooden boards. But the mob spirit which had been kindled in the inside of the house, they could not get home all evening until 10 P. M., when they stole out of the house from the back door.

On May 21, when the reporter of the Japanese American went there the windows were patched with wooden boards. But the mob spirit which had been kindled in the inside of the house, they could not get home all evening until 10 P. M., when they stole out of the house from the back door.

THE F. W. L. CELEBRATES

Installs Its Officers With a Great Display of Frocks and Bonnets.

Yesterday was installation day of the Professional Woman's League and the clubhouse was resplendent with frocks, frills, furberlows and feathers, all of which combined to form what one of the literary members termed "by all odds the most swagger sartorial show of the season."

The officers, past, present and to come, sat on the stage, artistically grouped against a background of sage green, and to each one was allotted a tiny but brilliant limelight for her exclusive use.

There were, theoretically, under the canopy of lime lights a president and a president-elect, six vice-presidents and six vice-presidents-elect, two secretaries and two secretaries-elect, two treasurers and two treasurers-elect, an auditor and an auditor-elect, a board of directors and a board of directors-elect, a chairman of committees of art, music, literature, entertainment, refreshments, photographs, house, membership, ways and means, and ditto etc.

It had been announced that some of them were "playing in Chicago" it would have seemed as if they were all there. And every officer, whether her frock was black, or white, or pink, or blue, or green, "tailor made" or of the variety known as "reception," and whether her hat was hidden by a cloud of chiffon, or obscured by a bird of luxuriant plumage, wore sleeves of elbow length and gloves long and white and new and wrinkled.

When Miss Adele Ritchie, who sat in the audience, was invited to come up among the chosen ones, she regarded her hands ruefully and groaned, "I can't. My gloves are torn." But the president said "Never mind."

Then a man sang. He was in appearance well fed and almost aggressively cheerful. His songs, however, were of so pathetic a nature and were rendered with so much of what a woman in a "Mrs. Malaprop" would term "lyric insight" that several of the more sympathetic of his listeners wept openly.

His second song was about "fading roses" and his third about "inadmissible strains had died away there were rapturous comments as to the most exquisite phrasing I ever heard, my dear."

On May 21, when the reporter of the Japanese American went there the windows were patched with wooden boards. But the mob spirit which had been kindled in the inside of the house, they could not get home all evening until 10 P. M., when they stole out of the house from the back door.

On May 21, when the reporter of the Japanese American went there the windows were patched with wooden boards. But the mob spirit which had been kindled in the inside of the house, they could not get home all evening until 10 P. M., when they stole out of the house from the back door.

On May 21, when the reporter of the Japanese American went there the windows were patched with wooden boards. But the mob spirit which had been kindled in the inside of the house, they could not get home all evening until 10 P. M., when they stole out of the house from the back door.

ABRUZZI KEPT ON THE GO

QUICK CHANGES OF UNIFORM TO MAKE OFFICIAL CALLS.

As an Admiral He Visits the Mayor, as a General He Attends a Reception at Governors Island—Guest in the Evening at the Consul-General's Dinner.

Prince Louis of Savoy paid calls on the Mayor and on Brig-Gen. Grant yesterday and in the evening attended a dinner given by Count Evaristi Masaglia at the Waldorf.

Prince Louis, who is also the Duke of the Abruzzi, called upon the Mayor at the City Hall wearing the uniform of an Admiral and accompanied by Count Masaglia, the Italian Consul-General and an aide-de-camp. The Mayor and the visitors talked together for about five minutes in English.

Prince Louis said he was looking forward to a meeting with Peary. Mayor McClellan returned the visit in the afternoon, boarding the Admiral's flagship, the Varese.

The Prince, between showers, attended a reception at Governors Island given by Brig-Gen. and Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant. From the City Hall he hurried to the Italian Consulate, where the uniform of a General in the Italian army was donned.

Immediately afterward the party proceeded to the Battery and were taken to Governors Island. As the Hancock neared Castle William a salute of seventeen guns was fired. Gen. Grant and his staff greeted the vessel at its landing place.

Every yard of bunting and flags the post possessed was draped about the landing slip and lined the way to Gen. Grant's house.

In the drizzling rain that was falling the Duke was conducted to the house, about three blocks away, where luncheon awaited. The reception was scheduled for three o'clock and among the first arrivals were Admiral and Mrs. Joseph B. Coghlan and Lieut. Henderson, the Admiral's aide.

A few minutes after Mr. and Mrs. Paul Morton, Gen. Corbin, Mrs. Stephen B. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Alexander and Col. John J. McCook arrived on the Hancock. A drenching rain caught them just after the boat had left and they were obliged to seek shelter in the stuffy little grocery store. When finally there seemed to be no letup in sight a quantity of dry rubber boots was brought out from the Four-bundled themselves up in these and proceeded to the house of Gen. Grant.

Among the others present at the reception were Rear Admiral Thiery, Rear Admiral William B. Emory, U. S. N., Capt. Reeder, commander of the Hancock; Capt. Dennis H. Mahan of the Indiana, Capt. Frank McCroskey of the Iowa, Capt. Hugo Osterhaus of the Connecticut, Capt. Nathan E. Miles of the Maine, Capt. Albert C. Couden of the Louisiana, Capt. Lewis C. Bunker of the Ohio, Capt. Charles G. Bowen of the Rhode Island.

RICORDI FOR CONRIER'S PLACE.

Milan Despatch to Paris Paper Revives Old Opera House Rumor.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. PARIS, May 27.—A despatch to the Echo de Paris from Milan says that Siro Ricordi will succeed Heinrich Conried as director of the Metropolitan Opera House.

Heinrich Conried has repeatedly denied that he would relinquish the post of director of the opera house before his contract term expired, and it has still a couple of weeks to run. Nothing has been said in New York of late to suggest that any change was to take place in the immediate future.

CECIL SPOONER'S NEW PLAY. Tries "The Dancer and the King" on a New York Audience. Miss Cecil Spooner opened a New York engagement last night at the Lincoln Square in "The Dancer and the King," a new play by J. Searl Dawley and Charles E. Blaney.

The play is based upon certain incidents in the life of Lolo Montez and is laid in the mythical kingdom of Bavaara, whose King, Louis I., succumbs to the attractions of the dancer. She thereupon takes a part in the Statecraft of the kingdom and through four acts is kept busy saving the monarch from the plots of his Prime Minister and Cabinet.

First Roof Garden Open. "Jardin de Paris" on the New York Theatre Starts Its Season. The New York Theatre roof garden, which is under the management of Florence Ziegfeld this year, and has been christened the Jardin de Paris, opened before a crowded house last night, notwithstanding the bad weather.

Grace Cameron in "Dolly Dimples." Grace Cameron in a musical play called "Dolly Dimples" last night began a week's engagement at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, and judging by the amount of applause bestowed the business should be good.

News of Plays and Players. George M. Cohan announced last night that he intends to commence building a $500,000 theatre near Forty-sixth street and Broadway next month.

Judge Praises Bunco Man. For His Hypnotic Eyes—Then Sends Him and His Pal to Prison for 9 Years. Joseph Simmons and Edward Stone, who were convicted in the Joliet court, Brooklyn, last week of swindling $2,000 out of Emil Arnold of San Francisco in a penny flipping game at a Coney Island saloon in April, were arraigned before Judge Dike yesterday.

RED FLAG A SIGN OF DISORDER. Magistrate Crane Says It Will Not Be Tolerated and Holds Socialist. "Using a red flag in speeches or lectures," said Magistrate Crane in the Tombs police court yesterday while sentencing Sol Fieldman, the Socialist orator, who was arrested recently for flaunting the emblem of anarchy in Printing House Square, "tends toward a breach of the peace, incites men to riot and violence, creates feelings of hatred against the Government and its citizens, is against the law and will not be tolerated in this city or country."

SAVED FROM BURNING SHIP. Lieutenant-Governor of Great Columbia and Party Were in British Columbia and Party Were in British Columbia. Victoria, B. C., May 27.—The Hon. James Dunsmuir, Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, and his party, who left several weeks ago on a bear hunting expedition to Gardner Inlet, arrived home on the steamer Queen City, which picked them up after all had narrowly escaped death in the burning of the Governor's yacht, "The Inverloch," at Charlotte Sound.

DANIEL ON CURRENT POLITICS

OUTLINES A BROAD AND STABLE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

Reasonable Tariff Revision, Gold Standard of Value, Regulation of Corporations Under the Legitimate Authority Given By the Constitution Are His Program.

LYNCHBURG, Va., May 27.—Senator John W. Daniel, who has been suggested by Senator Bryan and others as a proper Democratic candidate for President, says in an interview: "I am in no sense a candidate for the nomination. While the kindness with which the mention of my name has been received in some quarters is naturally very gratifying to me, I do not think the situation calls for any public expression from me at this time."

Regarding the ticket and platform Senator Daniel says: "In a wholesome condition of public feeling that has come to pass I think that the national ticket should be composed of men according to their merit and availability, without regard to the section from which they come. "I think the national Democratic platform should enunciate broad, general Democratic principles and be confined to those things upon which the Democrats are generally agreed. Thus limited, it would bring together the Democratic forces of the United States, and if they could be brought together they would have an excellent chance for victory."

"Such a platform would, of course, include fair and just regulation of the corporations engaged in interstate commerce. It should, of course, take the Constitution, fairly and justly interpreted, as its guide and have the public welfare as its sole aim; also it would not entertain any proposition for the United States to own the railroads or vehicles engaged in transportation. "What the far distant future may bring no man can say, but such a proposition is the reversal of democracy and the despair of the republic. Moreover it diverts the mind from the progressive regulation of those things which are clearly within the constitutional power of Congress and which meet with the approbation of wise and prudent statesmen."

"A judicious revision of the tariff, not a wrecking nor a doctrinaire revision, would best meet fair public sentiment on the subject of tariff revision, which are to be dealt with. People will exact that they shall not be disparaged for the benefit of foreigners abroad or monopolists at home. We should not develop other countries at the expense of our laborers or furnish distant consumers at the expense of our consumers. It is generally agreed that the gold standard should not be menaced or disturbed by any proposition whatsoever. "Conservation is the bane of republics, and we are getting so congested in this regard that our progress is being held up by public affairs. I do not believe in any strained construction of the Constitution or the torturing of its power to reach by judicial interpretation the things which are to be put under Federal jurisdiction. What we need is the natural and wholesome construction of all powers, both State and Federal."

The engagement of Miss Mary M. Billings, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Billings of 279 Madison avenue, to John French of this city was announced yesterday. Miss Billings is a sister of Mrs. Frederic Lee and lives at 44 West Forty-fourth street. The wedding will take place on Saturday at the Dutch Reformed Church.

The Rev. Dr. Lyman to Retire. The Rev. Dr. Albert J. Lyman, who has been pastor of the South Congregational Church in Brooklyn for the last thirty-four years and is the dean of the Congregational ministers in that borough, has decided to give up active pastoral work. He is to assume the duties of pastor emeritus and give the church the benefit of his long experience, preaching twice a month and charging nothing for his services. He has notified his congregation of his purpose and a committee will be appointed to look after his successor.

GIRL BABY'S AWFUL ECZEMA. Sight of Eye Destroyed by Disease—Tried Five Doctors but Grew Worse—In Agony Eight Months—Parents Discouraged, Until They Tried Cuticura Remedies. "Our little girl, one year and a half old, was taken with eczema or that was what the doctor said it was. We called in the family doctor and he gave some tablets and said she would be all right in a few days. The eczema grew worse and we called in doctor No. 2. He said she was teething, as soon as the teeth were through she would be all right. But she was still growing worse. Doctor No. 3 said it was eczema. By this time she was nothing but a yellow, greenish sore. Well, he said he could help her, so we let him try it about a week. One morning we discovered a little yellow pimple on one of her eyes. Of course we phoned for doctor No. 4. He came over and looked her over and said that he could not do anything more for her, that we had better take her to some eye specialist, since it was an ulcer. So we went to Ovego to doctor No. 5, and he said the eye was gone, but that he could help it. We thought we would try doctor No. 5. Well, that proved the same, only he charged $10 more than doctor No. 4. We were nearly discouraged. I saw one of the Cuticura advertisements in the paper and thought we would try Cuticura. Treatment so I went and purchased a set of Cuticura Remedies, which cost me $1, and in three days our daughter, who had been sick about eight months, showed great improvement, and in one week all sores had disappeared. Of course it could not restore the eyesight, but if we had used Cuticura in time I am confident that it would have saved the eye. We think there is no remedy so good for any skin trouble or impurity of the blood as Cuticura. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Abbott, R. F. D. No. 9, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y., August 17, 1906."

APPLES FROM AUSTRALIA. An Experiment in Replenishing the Meagre New York Supply. In the hold of the steamship Celtic of the White Star Line, which arrived yesterday from Southampton, were more than a million bushels of fancy Australian eating apples. W. N. White of Washington Market, who received the consignment, said that there was a dearth of this apple in the New York market and that the import was tried as an experiment. The apples have been en route about sixty days, coming from Sydney by way of England. On the voyage to England they were not cooled, but when they were shipped to this country it was thought advisable to put them in cold storage. Each apple is carefully wrapped in tissue paper.

DELMAS TO TRY CASE IN SAN FRANCISCO. San Francisco, May 27.—Delmas arrived from New York on Saturday and to-day it was announced that he would defend Louis T. Glass and Theodore V. Halsey when they are tried next month on charges of receiving bribes for the Home Telephone franchise.

Advertisement for Nimrod's Wife by Grace Gallatin Seton. Includes text: "By the author of 'A Woman Tenderfoot.' Nimrod's Wife By GRACE GALLATIN SETON. An adventurous romance of life in the Sierras, the Rockies, on the Ottawa and in Norway. Elaborately illustrated, $1.95 postpaid. DOUBLEDAY PAGE & CO. NEW YORK. Readers in New York and vicinity are invited to visit our library saleroom."

Advertisement for "The Perfect Tribute" THE MILITANTS. Includes text: "BY THE AUTHOR OF 'The Perfect Tribute' THE MILITANTS. Stories of Some Parsons, Soldiers, and other Fighters in the World. The Bishop's Silence The Diamond Brooches A Messenger Through the Ivory Gate The Witnessers. BY MARY RAYMOND SHIPMAN ANDREWS. Crowned with Glory and Honor The Aide-de-Camp The Wife of the Governor The Little Revenge. In an unusually dull season for fiction Mrs. Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews' short stories, 'The Militants' stand out apart. There is a delicacy in the first tale, 'The Bishop's Silence,' that gives promise of better things if the author follows up that vein. There are pleasant and enjoyable love stories. All the stories are well written and a good breeding that is becoming painfully rare in modern light literature.—The Sun."

Advertisement for The Coward Shoe. Includes text: "The Coward Shoe. The Coward Good Sense Shoe is built on a natural-foot-shape last, always comfortable and requiring no breaking-in. The Coward construction furnishes needed support for the ankle, and has a special form which prevents the arch of the foot from flattening. In all leathers, low and high cut. The public is cautioned against dealers who claim to sell the Coward Shoe. It can be bought only at the one Coward Shoe Store. SOLD NOWHERE ELSE. JAMES S. COWARD, 268-274 Greenwich St., N. Y. (Near Wall Street). Mail Orders Filled. Send for Catalogue."

Advertisement for Girl Baby's Awful Eczema. Includes text: "GIRL BABY'S AWFUL ECZEMA. Sight of Eye Destroyed by Disease—Tried Five Doctors but Grew Worse—In Agony Eight Months—Parents Discouraged, Until They Tried Cuticura Remedies. 'Our little girl, one year and a half old, was taken with eczema or that was what the doctor said it was. We called in the family doctor and he gave some tablets and said she would be all right in a few days. The eczema grew worse and we called in doctor No. 2. He said she was teething, as soon as the teeth were through she would be all right. But she was still growing worse. Doctor No. 3 said it was eczema. By this time she was nothing but a yellow, greenish sore. Well, he said he could help her, so we let him try it about a week. One morning we discovered a little yellow pimple on one of her eyes. Of course we phoned for doctor No. 4. He came over and looked her over and said that he could not do anything more for her, that we had better take her to some eye specialist, since it was an ulcer. So we went to Ovego to doctor No. 5, and he said the eye was gone, but that he could help it. We thought we would try doctor No. 5. Well, that proved the same, only he charged $10 more than doctor No. 4. We were nearly discouraged. I saw one of the Cuticura advertisements in the paper and thought we would try Cuticura. Treatment so I went and purchased a set of Cuticura Remedies, which cost me $1, and in three days our daughter, who had been sick about eight months, showed great improvement, and in one week all sores had disappeared. Of course it could not restore the eyesight, but if we had used Cuticura in time I am confident that it would have saved the eye. We think there is no remedy so good for any skin trouble or impurity of the blood as Cuticura. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Abbott, R. F. D. No. 9, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y., August 17, 1906.'

Advertisement for The Four O'Clock Train. Includes text: "The Four O'Clock Train. NOTHING will interfere with your catching it all summer long if you dictate your correspondence to an Edison Business Phonograph. 'Voice writing' will shorten working hours and add to recreation hours. The convenience of the Edison Commercial System is only equaled by its economy. We demonstrate both without charge. Commercial Department NATIONAL PHONOGRAPH CO. 31 Union Square Telephone 1352 Stuyvesant."

Advertisement for Silver Plaster that Wears. Includes text: "Silver Plaster that Wears. Silver for Children. Food pushers, baby spoons, children's sets, etc., marked '1847 ROGERS BROS.' designed to be attractive and stand hard usage. In all leading patterns. SOLD BY LEADING DEALERS. The Royal Baby plate also in silver. Made exclusively by MERIDEN BRITS CO. NOVELTY STORE, 125 Nassau Street, New York. MARRIOTT STREET, BOSTON. PAAT 161 4th St."

JOITINGS ABOUT TOWN. On Wednesday day the steamer Chester W. Case will make an excursion to New Haven, Conn. by way of East River, foot of Peck slip, at 10 A. M. and arriving in New Haven at 10 P. M. on Wednesday. The steamer will be capt. W. H. Case, Jr. and will have on board several diphtheria cultures, a pack of playing cards and a novel.

Marries a Member of His Firm. WEST ORANGE, N. J., May 27.—Announcement was made this afternoon of the marriage on April 27 last of Lyndon S. Smith, one of the most prominent manufacturers in the Orange hat-making district, and Miss Rachael A. Harrison, who has been connected with his factory for seventeen years and is a member of the firm. The ceremony was performed in the Organ Memorial Church in Dover by the Rev. Dr. John MacNaughton. Mr. Smith is employed in the firm of C. B. Ruten & Co. of West Orange.

PATERSON'S STATUS OF HAMILTON IN PLACE. PATERSON, N. J., May 27.—To-day the statue of Alexander Hamilton, founder of Paterston, was placed on the pedestal in front of the city hall near the statue of the late Vice-President Hobart and the unveiling will take place on Memorial Day. Miss Mary Schuyler Hamilton, a great-granddaughter of the distinguished Federalist, has been chosen to officiate at the unveiling. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, will be the orator.

AGASSIZ CENTENNIAL CELEBRATED. CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 27.—Harvard to-night celebrated the hundredth anniversary of the birth of Prof. Jean Louis Rudolph Agassiz. Exercises were held in Saunders Theatre, at which addresses were made by President Eliot, Col. Thomas Wentworth Higginson, Prof. A. L. Lowell, Prof. Gray of the Harvard University, and Prof. Gray of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

DELMAS TO TRY CASE IN SAN FRANCISCO. San Francisco, May 27.—Delmas arrived from New York on Saturday and to-day it was announced that he would defend Louis T. Glass and Theodore V. Halsey when they are tried next month on charges of receiving bribes for the Home Telephone franchise.